

Accessing the ACGME Faculty Survey

Follow the steps below to access the ACGME Faculty Survey. Programs are responsible for informing faculty members that they are scheduled to participate in this survey; the ACGME does not contact faculty members directly. Not all programs are scheduled to participate at the same time; scheduling is staggered between January and April of each academic year.

- 1. The Faculty Survey can be accessed on a mobile device or computer through a secure link e-mailed to the faculty member by the program.
 - Be advised that all ACGME data systems support updated versions of the following Internet browsers: Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome, Apple Safari, or Internet Explorer (Version 11 and above).
- 2. Access the survey via the secure link sent from donotreply@acgme.org.
 - Programs are responsible for sending initial notifications to their survey takers that contain the secure link to their individual survey. To receive an e-mail reminder at any time during the survey window, use the Receive Survey Reminder (<https://www.acgme.org/Surveys/Security/ForgotLogin>) feature. Survey takers will be prompted to enter the e-mail address on file within their current program and the 10-digit ACGME program code.
- 3. All deadlines are final. Access to the survey will close once the deadline has passed. No submissions are accepted after the survey window closes.
